at the KU

Native Medicinal Plant Research Garden

part of the KU Field Station (Kansas Biological Survey)

Saturday, May 14, 2011

This will be a relaxed, informal event (10 a.m.-1 p.m.) focused on getting plants in the ground. Our new educational garden will have six themed beds of medicinal plants, about 90 species total. All ages are welcome to come get your hands dirty or just make a visit. Bring your best garden trowels, shovels and spades, plus hats, sunscreen and your smile. We will give away starter plants of wild mint and medicinal sage; bring pots for your samples.

Where to go: From downtown Lawrence, travel north across the bridge and follow Highway 59 to Highway 40. Turn east and travel 1.5 miles to E 1600 Road, then travel half a mile north to the garden site. For more info about the garden and a map of the alternate bike route, see www.nativeplants.ku.edu/garden.

Questions? Contact Kirsten Bosnak, Kansas Biological Survey, 785-864-6267 or nativeplants@ku.edu.
